Had you NOT called, you would not have gotten YOUR pizza and enjoyed it as much.

We live in a sound bite universe, so it's not surprising that much of the elaboration of the LOA had to be left out.

The Secret was deliberately hidden so that only a chosen few would benefit from the knowledge, while leaving others for chance and happenstance.

It's been my experience that whatever you place your attention on seems to get done in life.

That yes, His Will will be done.

it's as simple as that.

I've found The Healing Codes to be effective.

When you say: What is that paradox?

NO one else's, and if I am willing to be responsible for them, and own my results, then in that moment, true mastery is possible.

So either you're wasting your energy or suffering from it.
and all that you have gained you will lose when you die.
It is an interesting way to view the response.
I see the questioners as furthering that evolution.
What you receive hmmm, well, some olives to harmonize the savour of new taste acceptance with the class within.
It is like one person facing a challenge says "I can't!"
The paradox, to me, is that some of the most vocal proponents of the LOA DON'T seem to be able to withstand discussion or challenge.
The Law of Attraction is a misnomer.
You now understand that had you not called back, the delivery guy would have let it go, but you did call, got your pizza that you wanted and even MORE!
The Law of Attraction is always working no matter what a person believes for it brings to us the manifestation of our beliefs and what we focus our energy toward.
as one can not be always right.
We live in a sound bite universe, so it's not surprising that much of the elaboration of the LOA had to be left out.
But, on another level, it's a sad paradox.
It's more like a Law of Attention, realized.
A paradox in logic is a statement that contradicts itself.
But, I sure do like tamales!
savour it when tested but call for complete the change.
Job said the very thing he feared came upon him.
I have absolutely no doubt that in the quantum universe, there are mysteries of attraction and manifestation that are now coming to light.
We humans have a way of complicating things, don't we?
and you knew the pleasures it gave you.
and once this pizza arrived you already manifested the pleasure in eating that pizza and now that reality showed itself, it was not all that perfect.
Affirming the LOA does not mean that you check your brains at the door.
Why, in plain sight, of course.
To make the Law work we have to act, think and feel according to the Law every moment of our life.
It's going to be impossible for someone who is focused on bringing negativity to something positive to get something positive from it in their life experience.
Norwood's free coaching session because I have a different "take" on the paradox.
Controversy attracts controversy.
WHAT YOU LEARNED IS THAT COMMUNICATION IS NOT ALWAYS CLEAR TO EVERYONE.
It's as if the "supporters" are afraid that the LOA will go "poof" if attacked, and so they feel the fierce need to defend it.
The Law of Attraction is still working, but in a negative way because of your doubts.
It was life changing because in the past you would have settled.
It's going to be impossible for someone who is focused on bringing negativity to something positive to get something positive from it in their life experience.
All these messages are a form of activating The Law of Attraction, n'est pas?
They are for good and not evil, plans to prosper and not harm you.
I also believe when you make the choice to shop or dine at establishments where people are earning substandard wages for HARD tedious work; expectations logically are best modified.
It's a wonderful time in the awakening of humankind.
Job said the very thing he feared came upon him.
You also liberated yourself by forgiving the pizza guys and realized that sometimes mistakes happen for your own good.
I think the pizza parlor knows you specially that you are their regular customer.
But if you want to deny the Law, do it calmly with sound reasons and strong arguments.

You valued your right to give feedback even if it was not in agreement.
By keeping a positive focus on you, your dreams, and goals, then and only then will you know the power of "THE SECRET".
If you have a negative thought, does it totally destroy all the effects of all your positive thoughts?
It's going to be impossible for someone who is focused on bringing negativity to something positive to get something positive from it in their life experience.
However, if you believe it will work, then it will work for you.
" It's just the beginning.
You need to believe and go with the flow.
Then you did call because sometimes in life you can have both.
The Law of Attraction is still working, but in a negative way because of your doubts.
This Great Paradox over the controversy about The Secret contains as many lessons as the movie does itself.
They are for good and not evil, plans to prosper and not harm you.
Therefore, what you envision to happen to yourself happens to another, and vice versa.
This shows to them that you are not upset but are making them accountable and that at you made them feel good by letting them know that you will return for more pizza.
That is, act with the rationality in the name of which you're beating up the folks who believe the Law.
Norwood, Responses aren't usually an either/or scenario.
Controversy attracts controversy.
But something else is.
The LOA is not about laziness; it's about motive, spirit, and INSPIRED action.

Norwood's free coaching session because I have a different "take" on the paradox .
I think you get the point.
It was meant to help you and even the pizza delivery man for something deep inside us.
You are really making the world a better place for living.
It is like one person facing a challenge says "I can't!
Feedback is often complicated; it is a gut thing.
But, on another level, it's a sad paradox.
The Secret was deliberately hidden so that only a chosen few would benefit from the knowledge, while leaving others for chance and happenstance.
The "critics" in asking further questions and challenging certain premises are, in my opinion, merely fostering further debate, and there is nothing wrong with that at all.
and by not recognizing the relationship that is missing in having a saviour , a helper, Jesus Christ, and the Holy Ghost.
Are positive thoughts all that's necessary to manifest your dreams?
those whom are called according to God's purpose.
And attracting in all the success, love and wealth The Law of Attraction promises .
I also believe when you make the choice to shop or dine at establishments where people are earning substandard wages for HARD tedious work; expectations logically are best modified.
And it's a hilarious one.
It's the paradox over all the controversy about the movie: Is The Law of Attraction on real?
I would have chosen A.
It would be life changing for many people to be assertive without being aggressive, and realizing that you get much farther that way.
It's been my experience that whatever you place your attention on seems to get done in life.

By advertising and explaining it it becomes an obvious fact.
Believe and you shall receive.
but that is ok because you had the best of the spiritual pizza.
You are really making the world a better place for living.
what is the secret about the secret?
You can be your own worst enemy by letting others influence your actions and thoughts.
Often in the heat of making a documentary film, there can be slight errors in how a source is referenced.
I think the pizza parlor knows you specially that you are their regular customer .
As a man thinketh in his heart so is he.
The Law of Resistance.
All things do work for good.
As christ said ask and it shall be given unto you.
Feedback is often complicated; it is a gut thing.
It is not being hidden from our eyes - it is there in plain sight for those to see, who have the eyes to see.
Nothing is 'black' and 'white', black is 'black' only relative to 'white'.
As Jesus said, According to your faith it is done unto you.
There have to be other Universal Laws at work.
The paradox is that 'The Secret' is not a secret.
However, if you believe it will work, then it work for you.
I would of thanked them for the pizza but also let them be aware that there was a mistake in your order and if they would kindly credit you on the next order.
It is done unto you AS you believe!
If people try to avoid negative thoughts, that is where their attention will go.

One minute spent in thoughts with Joy, transforms one-hundred minutes of thoughts with fear.
But it all works together.
inevitably, it will remain so for many.
This is not a secret as much as it's something that we have forgotten, we were created to have all the joy and abundance that we could want or need.
Even back to bible times we have been taught "what you think about is what you get.
The paradox is that what you desire is already there.
however there would of been a twist.
So, while it's there for us to use, by questioning, doubting, etc.
As Jesus said, According to your faith it is done unto you.
It's a wonderful time in the awakening of humankind.
The Secret ain't a Secret!
I believe in THAT law of attraction.
I'll personally help you take your next leap toward your dreams and towards triumphing over your own challenges.
Quite funny really, in a tragic kind of way.
Can the difference between thinking negative or positive thoughts really change the outcome of your challenges?
We need to see the joy in our lives and live in gratitude of these joys.
You are very proud of yourself for calling.
I believe that the paradox is about the difference between our knowledge and our way of life.
like you wouldn't notice.
" "You Can" overcome your greatest challenges.
It has become my practice to resist feedback that is primarily about me, especially when I am not in a good space.
The Law of Attraction is still working, but in a negative way because of your doubts.
I'm a producer of documentary films and I know that there is often an agonizing process involved in deciding what has to be cut because of time constraints.

When somebody asks: "Is The Law of Attraction real?
They are saying that the "action piece" is left out, that you don't get rich, get a new job, find a mate, or whatever, by ONLY visualizing.
All that is ever needed comes automatically in conscious union with the Source of Life.

Or was that: Pair o' docks?

YOU THEN SAID YOU KNEW THEY WANTED YOU TO BE HAPPY.

Just like some people will see a half glass of water as half-full and some people will see it as half-empty, which proves that the way people see things will be the way they think about them.

YOU CALLED TO THANK THE PIZZA OWNER FIRST FOR ALL THE FANTASTIC PAST PIZZAS AND PIZZAS TO COME.

I can think of a myriad of responses and none of which would necessarily be "wrong".

All that is ever needed comes automatically in conscious union with the Source of Life.

And it's a hilarious one.

Often in the heat of making a documentary film, there can be slight errors in how a source is referenced.

those whom are called according to God's purpose.

He was so apologetic when we told him we actually enjoyed our surprise dinners.

I believe in THAT law of attraction.

All that is ever needed comes automatically in conscious union with the Source of Life.

when all answers and reassurances lie "within"?

It has become my practice to resist feedback that is primarily about me, especially when I am not in a good space.

It's extraordinarily important for you to see what this paradox is, my friend.

Seek the eternal and learn the promises.

Recognizing our passion and living it is what should motivate us, that is where your true happiness will be.

The Law of Attraction is still working, but in a negative way because of your doubts.

But something else is.

There have to be other Universal Laws at work.

Life is the same way we have to ask for what we want or live with disappointment.

And it's a hilarious one.

You now understand that had you not called back, the delivery guy would have let it go, but you did call, got your pizza that you wanted and even MORE!

You realized many folks are in a mess, stretched to their limits with no way to change anything in their imagination, and with only a few tweaks their lives could be so smooth and wealthy.

You realized many folks are in a mess, stretched to their limits with no way to change anything in their imagination, and with only a few tweaks their lives could be so smooth and wealthy.

In other words you already have the secret or you do not.

That yes, His Will will be done.

If people keep talking about "The Secret", it will no longer be one.

but that is ok because you had the best of the spiritual pizza.

It's more like a Law of Attention, realized.

If you have a negative thought, does it totally destroy all the effects of all your positive thoughts?

The paradox in The Secret is that it isn't a secret.

It's called "discourse", "debate", "discussion"; it doesn't need to be construed as an "attack".

The Secret was an extraordinary movie that, with stunning power, brought to light the primacy of what every inspirational speaker and writer has talked about for generations.

so they could remedy the kinks in the system so their customer service would not continue down a less-than-perfect road.
That is the "GREAT PARADOX" to which Dr.
The universe knows what it is doing, always!
The Law of Attraction ALWAYS works .
Controversy attracts controversy.
Now I shall tell you why and what you did.
works for the good and the bad.
It's no secret, it's been about for ages.
Once perceiving this paradox, and crystallizing its lessons in your spirit, you will see how this same paradox may be preventing you from engaging The Law of Attraction in your own life .
There's nothing wrong with making corrections either.
The Secret ain't a Secret!
"You Can" discover your meaning and Life Purpose.
In summary, you are your thoughts!
in sometimes very challenging, heartbreaking, growth preventing, and painful ways.
So in fact you did both.
I've found The Healing Codes to be effective.
and all that you have gained you will lose when you die.
A paradox in logic is a statement that contradicts itself.
lol We live in an imperfect world and to accept that you are able to move forward with all the little trivials that life throws at us such as the pizza with no mushrooms and onions.
YOU TOLD HIM THEY MADE YOU FEEL DELICIOUS TO BE ALIVE.
And it does not mean that things can never be challenged or questioned.
I would have chosen A.
I'm a producer of documentary films and I know that there is often an agonizing process involved in deciding what has to be cut because of time constraints.
The movie, in my opinion, did fall short on the action piece, but I think that's because the editing process made it impossible to include absolutely everything in the movie.
